You are Responsible for:

- Understanding & Complying with these rules.
- Your personal safety when working on the haul out & Hardstand site, including wearing appropriate protective gear, using the correct equipment safely and taking precaution when working from height ensuring all scaffolding and ladders are secure and fit for purpose.
- Ensuring that your deck is a safe working and movement area when on board the vessel.
- The safety of others where you have permitted or invited them on-site.
- All vessel owners, visitors, contractors / suppliers are to sign in and out at the beginning and end of each day.
- Ensuring all Hot Work that you carry out on your vessel has the necessary paperwork.
- All sanding dust & scraping particulates, noxious liquid spills and drops are prevented from entering waterways and are collected & disposed of as per "hazardous Substances and new Organisms Act 1996" and reported to the Nelson Marina Staff.
- Keeping the worksite tidy & clean, paying attention to likely hazards, and protecting the environment and other boats and vehicles and reporting any hazards to Nelson Marina Staff.
- Having only one vehicle on site at any time, parked sensibly and accepting that it may be damaged by works carried out on site. Keys must be left in vehicle.
- If asked to move your vehicle by Nelson Marina staff that you will do so in a timely manner.
- Locking the site if working after hours.
- Costs for cleaning your working area.

Nelson Marina Haul-Out & Hardstand is Responsible for:

- Ensuring that the hardstand and haul-out areas are, as far as reasonably practical, safe working environments. This is a statutory responsibility under the Health and Safety at work Act 2015 (HSWA), and it applies to all workers, employees, contractors, subcontractors and volunteers working on site, and all other people accessing the site.
- Exercising all due care to safely place strops and lift vessels based on design, weight, and owners' notes.
- All cradles, blocks, wedges, and props. These may only be moved or adjected by Nelson Marina Hardstand Staff, interference with these by any person will result in site access being suspended.

Nelson Marina Haul-Out & Hardstand is NOT Responsible for:

- Damage to your vehicle when it is in the hardstand
- Damage to paint or hull fittings on your vessel. We take your advice about where sensitive fittings may be located but haul out strops must be placed the most practical and safe location. If you are worried about external fittings consider and discuss an alternative haul out method the Haul-Out manager, however the haul-out manager has final authority on placement

Anyone that wishes to enter the Haul Out & Hardstand Area must complete the online Health & Safety Induction found on our website.
